

Dow Jones FX Select

Global foreign exchange for currency trading platforms

Dow Jones FX Select helps trading companies deliver more value to their currency trading customers by enabling them to provide timely, market-focused news directly into the tools, online channels and critical applications their customers use to stay ahead of what's influencing the flow of money.

FX Select is produced by an international editorial team reporting around the clock – from the open in Australia to market close in the Americas – so you'll have a clear view into exactly what's affecting interest and exchange rates. From breaking news about events to commentary and analysis on trends and policies driving major and exotic currency markets, Dow Jones reporters cover all the key currency trading centers and issues.

React Faster with Real-Time Information

- Foreign-Exchange Roundups offer regular, detailed summaries from all major trading centers, including Asia, London and New York
- Commentary throughout the day on major, secondary and exotic currencies that puts market news in context
- Money Markets coverage with regular commentary and news on issues affecting these highly liquid, short-term funds
- Watches on the Fed, ECB, BOE and BOJ that deliver regular analysis of policy stances taken by major central banks while also providing a view into the issues likely to influence policy makers
